

FLAMINGO LAND

GUIDANCE IN THE USE OF CLEANING MATERIALS

1. During the handling and use of cleaning materials

- Whenever possible, avoid skin contact
- Any contamination of the skin must be removed with copious amounts of water. Contaminated clothing must be removed immediately
- Hands must be washed prior to eating, drinking, smoking and visiting the toilet
- All liquids must be handled with extreme caution to avoid splashing or spillage
- Any eye contamination must be rinsed away with copious amounts of water and medical attention must be sought
- Any cases of dermatitis connected with work activities must be reported to Supervisors immediately

2. During the storage of cleaning materials

- Ensure that all storage areas are clean and tidy
 - Ensure all containers are tightly sealed and in trays to contain spillages or leaks where necessary
 - Spillages should be dealt with as advised by the manufacturer. If in doubt about what to do, clear the area, seal it off and seek advice
 - Avoid transferring products from one container to another. If transfer is unavoidable, the following rules apply
 - * Remove old labels from and thoroughly clean the receiving container
 - * The receiving container must be labelled in the same way as the container of the product being decanted into it
 - * Decanting should only be carried out by Supervisors or Senior Cleaners
 - Do not store incompatible products such as bleach and acid in close proximity to one another, to avoid the possibility of harmful reactions should spillages or leakage occur
 - Always store flammable products such as Brasso in the correct type of containers and away from sources of heat. Use with extreme caution.
- In both the use and storage of cleaning materials, ensure adequate ventilation at all times

FLAMINGO LAND GUIDANCE IN THE USE OF CLEANING MATERIALS

SUMMARY

All cleaning materials used are proprietary products which should not present risk to health when used in accordance with the manufacturers' instructions, which must always be followed.

No cleaning materials or products other than those authorised for use by the Company are to be used.

In addition to the information on the product labels, a complete set of Hazard Data Sheets is available from each Supervisor and these give more detailed information on the products.

Supervisors will provide information, instruction and training to their staff when new products are introduced or circumstances require it.
